

Granta for Windows 4876 X-Link

Granta for Windows X-Link provides the capability to link the security management system to third party systems. Events on the Granta system are constantly monitored and when specific events occur a message can be sent via a number of different mediums, allowing security management events to interact with other systems. For instance when an alarm occurs on the Granta system it is possible to send the type and time of the event via RS232 to a pager system where a guard can be alerted. At the same time that information could be sent via Email with extra information to a security manager and can even be sent to a mobile phone using SMS (short messaging service).

The applications to which X-Link can provide a solution are almost limitless and below are just some of the examples where it might be used:

- Integration into paging systems
- Email notification of specific events
- Integration into building management systems
- Integration into CCTV systems for telemetry control

Features
